Banknote of ₹10 denomination in Mahatma Gandhi series with additional / new security features

SALIENT FEATURES

Obverse (Front) Side

See through Register
The floral design printed both on the front (foll) and back (faced up) in the middle of the vertical band next to the watermark window has the denominational numeral “10”. Half the numeral printed on the obverse and half on the reverse. Both the printed portions have an accurate back to back registration so that the numeral appears as one when viewed against light.

Watermark
The portrait of Mahatma Gandhi, the multidiagonal lines and an electrolyte mark showing the denominational numeral 10 appear in this section and these can be viewed better when the banknote is held against light.

Microlettering
The letters, “RBI”, can be viewed with the help of a magnifying glass in the zone between the Mahatma Gandhi portrait and the vertical band and above the legend Reserve Bank of India and below the signature of the Governor.

Reverse (Back) Side

Year of printing appears on the reverse of the banknote

Fluorescence
Number panels of the banknote are printed in fluorescent ink. The banknote has optical fibers. Both can be seen when the banknote is viewed under ultraviolet light.

Paper
Banknote is printed on a special watermarked paper with substrate cotton and cotton rag. This gives the banknote a unique “feel” and “cracking sound”. The new series of ₹10 banknote has paper with increased grammage and caliper thickness.
